

Young Calls For Compliance

Times Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — Rep. Don Young, R-Alaska, today said President Nixon must heed the Supreme Court's decision and release White House tapes or risk certain impeachment in the House.

At the same time, Young rejected calls by other congressmen — primarily fellow Republicans — that the House Judiciary Committee put off a final recommendation on impeachment in hopes of hearing new evidence in the 64 tapes.

"The court's decision absolutely should not affect the schedule of the Judiciary Committee," he said.

The Judiciary Committee begins televised debate on articles of impeachment at 2:30 p.m. ADT, and plans now call for a final vote as early as this week-end.

"There's no chance of it (judiciary hearings) being held up," Young said.

"Democrats on the committee are not about to take a chance by postponing the decision. They figure they've got the votes to impeach in committee and in the House."

Young, as he has during the entire Judiciary Committee proceedings, refused to indicate how he will vote on the impeachment question, if it arrives on the house floor.

"I'll vote my conscience," he said. "That's the best way."
